Department for Education Educational Programme Development Matters (Non-statutory) Nursery Year		Our School Personal, Social and Emotional Development Curriculum
		What?	When?
Self-regulation	→ I will talk about my feelings using words like ‘happy’, ‘sad’, ‘angry’ or ‘worried’. → I will understand gradually how others might be feeling.	Children who often express angry or destructive feelings need clear boundaries and routines. They also need practitioners to interact calmly and sensitively with them. Model ways that you calm yourself down, such as stopping and taking a few deep breaths. This can help children to learn ways to calm themselves. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Introduce Mood Monsters using character toys - Mood Monster fans shared with nursery children and their parents during transition visits - Adults model vocabulary associated with emotions and feelings by mood monster faces and speech bubbles; Nursery vocabulary; happy, calm, ready to learn, sad, poorly, sorry, scared, worried, angry, cross - Emotion Coaching used to respond to children’s behaviour-linked with Mood Monsters Help children explore situations from different points of view. Talk together about how others might be feeling. Bring these ideas into children’s pretend play: “I wonder how the chicken is feeling, now the fox is creeping up on her?”	Autumn 1 ‘This is Me!’ Transition visits with parents Daily-ongoing
Managing self	→ I will select and use resources, with help when needed. This helps me to achieve a goal I have chosen, or one which is suggested to me.	Involve children in making decisions about room layout and resources. Suggestion: you could set up a special role-play area in response to children’s fascination with space. Support

- I will increasingly follow rules, understanding why they are important.
- I will remember rules without needing an adult to remind me.

children to carry out decisions, respecting the wishes of the rest of the group. Further resource and enrich children's play, based on their interests. Suggestion: children often like to talk about their trips to hairdressers and barbers. You could provide items that reflect different ethnicities, such as combs and brushes etc. to stimulate pretend play around their interests. Respond to children's increasing independence and sense of responsibility. As the year proceeds, increase the range of resources and challenges, outdoors and inside. One example of this might be starting the year with light hammers, plastic golf tees and playdough. This equipment will offer children a safe experience of hammering. Wait until the children are ready to follow instructions and use tools safely. Then you could introduce hammers with short handles, nails with large heads, and soft blocks of wood. Widen the range of activities that children feel confident to take part in, outdoors and inside. Model inviting new activities that encourage children to come over and join in, such as folding paper to make animals, sewing or weaving.

- Continuous provision is labelled using Communication in Print to promote independence choice and executive function.

Explain why we have rules and display a small number of necessary rules visually as reminders. Suggestion: display a photo showing a child taking just one piece of fruit at the snack table.

- Behaviour Values displayed in nursery and referred to as part of daily routines
- Core Book-'Little Rabbit Foo Foo' used to promote discussion about following rules and being kind.

- Learning nursery routines using visual timetable and First and Then strategy
- Adults model language of sharing and turn taking. Social stories are shared to support asking a friend to play and appropriate ways to play with other children
- Time For Us sessions promote turn taking and listening and speaking skills

- I will develop appropriate ways of being assertive.
- I will talk with others to solve conflict.

- 5 rules of group time are displayed visually and referred to at the beginning of every session
- Stickers are given alongside verbal praise to reward good behaviour
- Good behaviour is celebrated publicly using '5 for a Prize, stickers and rewards

Hygiene and self-care including oral hygiene

Healthy Eating and choking hazards

They also need practitioners to interact calmly and sensitively with them. Model ways that you calm yourself down, such as stopping and taking a few deep breaths. This can help children to learn ways to calm themselves. If adults are excessively challenging or controlling, children can become more aggressive in the group. They may increasingly 'act out' their feelings. For example, when they feel sad, they might hit another child to make that child feel sad as well.

- Unwanted behaviour is responded to individually by an adult through Emotion Coaching and conflict resolution

Speak out/ stay safe NSPCC- Nursery children to become familiar with them, who can help me posters in school/ list of key people that they can trust.

PANTS NSPCC- Children to understand that pants are private and that their body belongs to them and them alone. Learn the pantosaurus song.

Become sun safe superstars- children to understand why they need to use suncream.

Building relationships	→ I will develop a sense of responsibility and membership of a community. → I will become more outgoing with unfamiliar people, in the safe context of my setting. → I will show more confidence in social situations. → I will play with one or more other children, extending and elaborating play ideas. → I will find solutions to conflicts and rivalries. For example, accepting that not everyone can be Spider-Man in the game, and suggesting other ideas.	Give children appropriate tasks to carry out. Suggestion: they can fetch milk cartons or fruit. They can wash up their own plates after their snack. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Children are encouraged to talk about their family and 'who lives in their house'. - Information shared by parents in 'All About Me' booklets Invite trusted people into the setting to talk about and show the work they do. Take children out on short walks around the neighbourhood. When ready, take them on trips to interesting places like a local museum, theatre or place of worship. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Social Story and speaking skills modelled. Eye contact, 'Will you play with me?' - R Time principles of using manners and people's names when talking and interacting. - Who's Behind The Door? Children take it in turns to share information about themselves, their lives, likes, dislikes, strengths, dreams and ambitions. - Discussion through stories 'The Little Red Hen', 'My Friend Bear', Rosie's Walk      Notice children who find it difficult to play. They may need extra help to share and manage conflicts. You could set up play opportunities in quiet spaces for them, with just one or two other children. You may need to model positive play and co-operation. Teach children ways of solving conflicts. Suggestion: model how to listen to someone else and agree a compromise. -	Autumn 1 'This is Me!' Transition visits with parents Daily routine
